What is Board Voice?

Board Voice is dedicated to improving social services to people in their communities. With member boards across the province, we influence social policy and change for the benefit of our sector. We do this by speaking to government and to our communities about the importance of social services to the health and well being of our citizens, bringing to their attention key concerns and issues, and telling the good news about the work of community agencies.

Why Join?

Thousands of volunteer board directors across BC give back in ways that make their communities healthier and more resilient. The governance and mandate of these agencies is critical to the well being of the people of BC. However, when boards work alone rather than together, they have lower visibility and impact. Together we are stronger. Together our voice can be heard.

Who Can Join?

All boards of community social benefit organizations that deliver social services in BC are welcomed and encouraged to become members of Board Voice. If you are not eligible to join Board Voice, please consider becoming a Friend to help us grow and sustain our work. Download the Friend application form here.

We Advocate: Board Voice is an organization of volunteer leaders, speaking out together to make our communities better places to live, learn, work, and play.

We Connect: Board Voice links social services boards together to learn, share and build community.

We Champion good governance: Board Voice promotes effective volunteer governance and community accountability.

What are the Benefits of Membership?

- Board Voice has become an established voice for progress in BC. Your voice at the table can be a strong advocate for change and advancement.
- There are opportunities through Board Voice to provide leadership and collaborate with other board directors at the provincial and community level.
- Member agencies have reduced rates for the annual Board Voice Conference featuring influential key note speakers and engaging interested stakeholders across the province.
- There is access to reliable information on the state of social services in the province.
- Board Voice provides the opportunity to join their Board of Directors or a specialized Committee.

In order to influence social policy and to speak out on behalf of community social benefit agencies in BC, we need you. We all need each other.
